How to Play

Oceanland is a Play-to-Earn blockchain game that combines crypto economics with the gaming world. The players earn income by gathering resources required for the main character. There are 4 main resources in Oceanland. Each resource has 4 different NFT tools producing different amounts. The variety of resources and NFT tools allow the players to devise different economic strategies.

Resources

Wood

Wood is the one of the two primary resources of crafting. Wood can be produced by Cutter Stone, Dagger, Axe, and Saw. Players will need food, water, and metal in order to use wood NTFs. Wood can be transformed into OcWood token.

Food

Food is vital for providing energy needed to use NFT items. All actions in the game require energy and food is the main source of energy. Food can be gathered by Basket, Net, Fishing Rod, and Wooden Trap. Metal and Water are consumed while using food items. Food can be transformed into OcFood token.

Water

Water is consumed while using all of the other resource items. Water can be gathered by Coconut Shell, Wooden Cup, Bucket, and Barrel. Metal and food are consumed while using water items. Water can be transformed into OcWater token.

Metal

Metal is one of the two primary resources of crafting. It's also consumed while using all of the other resource items. Metal can be gathered by Hammer, Shovel, Pickaxe, and Dynamite. Water and food are consumed while using metal items. Metal can be transformed into OcMetal token.

Resource Consumption

Table below shows the consumption of resources while using a particular resource. Wood is the only exception in consumption since it's the primary component of crafting.
